On the show, Angelina Jordan performed an understated, abbreviated version of Queen’s “Bohemian Rhapsody,” which received a “golden buzzer” and impressed Queen and the judges. After the show, Jordan wrote a book about her experience on the show, making her the youngest published author in Norway. She was also featured playing the role of a girl singing in a bar in the final episode of the Netflix series “Lilyhammer.” Angelina Jordan was born in Oslo, Norway. She started her piano lessons and vocal training while participating in the after-school program. Angelina Jordan has released one album, titled, It’s Magic, two EPs, and numerous digital singles. In 2020, Jordan announced that she had signed with a record label called Republic Records, where she released her first single, “Million Miles.” This article will count down the ten best Angelina Jordan songs of all time. 10. Summertime The number ten song on our list of the best Angelina Jordan’s songs is one of the songs that received many positive reviews from her fans. Like any other song she has released, “Summertime” also proves Jordan is extremely talented. Her performance of the song gives you a feeling of melancholy and longing. Angelina Jordan released “Summertime” in 2016, two years after Norway’s Got Talent. Many people couldn’t help but note the maturity in her vocal pitchness, looks, stage appearance, and improved performance level on this track. 9. White Christmas Angelina Jordan released “White Christmas” in 2014. Angelina Jordan’s version of this song is the first outstanding song since Bing Crosby’s classic. This beautiful track is about wishing for a perfect Christmas like the one she knew in the past. She also wishes to write cards to her loved ones in the song, wishing them bright and merry days. Many are attracted to this song by Jordan’s beautiful, authentic voice. 8. My Way “My Way” was originally composed and released by Frank Sinatra, one of the greatest musical artists of the 20th century. There are many versions of “My Way” released by different artists in the music industry. Angelina Jordan jumped on the opportunity and released her version, which was unique, low-key, melancholy, and compelling. While she performs this great single, she sings with a feeling and understanding of music that is much beyond her age. 7. Fly Me To The Moon “Fly Me to the Moon” was originally written in 1954 and the first recording of the song was done the same year. In Angelina Jordan’s version of this charming song, she sounds like a soul who has already lived five lifetimes and truly knows and understands what love is supposed to be and feel like. This ballad is about the singer expressing how they feel toward their lovers. Jordan’s version of the song appears to be many people’s favourite version of the song, receiving many positive reviews from her fans. 6. Angelina Jordan makes each cover song that she sings her own through her improvisation and interpretation of that song, just as she did superbly with this song. 3. Love Story This unique ballad is about the singer describing how good love can be and how love stories can be sweet to listen to. There’s so much emotion and passion as Angelina Jordan sings on this beautiful track, making it magical. Her “Love Story” performance is excellent and is among the best versions of the song. 2. Someone Like You The number one and two songs on our list of the greatest Angelina Jordan Songs were always going to be a close call between “Goodbye Yellow Brick Road” and “Someone Like You.” However, we have to give this wonderful soulful track. Since then she has worked to raise millions of dollars on behalf of environmental causes and children's charities around the world. She always performs barefoot, after befriending a young shoeless girl and giving her shoes to her. Jordan wrote a book about the experience and became the youngest published author in Norway. Jordan has released multiple digital singles, two EPs, and one album called It's Magic. She appeared on the first season of Little Big Shots in 2016, and the second season of America's Got Talent: The Champions in 2020, where her cover version of Queen's "Bohemian Rhapsody" brought her much attention. In August 2020, it was announced that she has signed with Republic Records.[3] Her first single under that label, "Million Miles", was released in November 2020.[4] Career Jordan at Kongsberg Jazzfestival in 2018. 2014: From Norway's Got Talent to My Christmas After Jordan's performances of two Billie Holiday songs, "Gloomy Sunday" and "I'm a Fool to Want You", on Norway's Got Talent, as well as "Fly Me to the Moon" on a TV talk show, all went viral online in March 2014, she was featured in Time,[1] Daily Mirror,[2] People,[5] and other news outlets around the world.[6] She continued in the competition singing Nancy Sinatra's version of "Bang Bang (My Baby Shot Me Down)" live in the semi-finals,[7] and won with her performance of George Gershwin's "Summertime", in the style of Ella Fitzgerald and Louis Armstrong's 1958 recording of the song. In September 2014, she performed "Fly Me to the Moon" on the US television show The View,[8] bringing her wider fame in the United States. She also performed on several TV 2 programs in Norway over the next few years, including multiple appearances on Allsang på Grensen (Singalong at the Border, referring to the border fortress of Fredriksten where outdoor concerts are held) and on TV4 in Sweden. Jordan had a small guest role in the final episode of the Netflix series Lilyhammer, playing a girl who sings in a bar.[9] In December 2014, she partly realized a personal ambition of singing at the Nobel Peace Prize Concert by performing for Peace Prize recipients Malala Yousafzai and Kailash Satyarthi at the Save the Children's Peace Prize Celebration.[10] Jordan's recording debut, the three-song maxi-single My Christmas, was released in December 2014.[11] To support the release, Jordan performed the songs on multiple TV shows, including an appearance on Christmas Day, 2015–2019: YouTube channels, The EP, It's Magic In 2015, Jordan began recording music that would eventually be collected on the six-song Angelina Jordan – The EP, released on 27 November 2017.[12] Many of the tracks were posted to her official YouTube channel[13] well in advance of the EP release, in the form of music videos and lyric videos. These included her covers of Screamin' Jay Hawkins' "I Put a Spell on You", the music video for which was directed by Per Heimly, and Amy Winehouse's "Back to Black", in which Jordan sang her own original lyrics. These two music videos became the most popular videos on her official YouTube channel, surpassing 5 million views each by 2020. In 2017, she created a second YouTube channel specifically to present performances of cover songs.[14] In November 2015, Jordan published the book Mellom to hjerter (Between Two Hearts), which was illustrated by her grandmother, Iranian artist Mery Zamani.[15] The book tells the story of her meeting a poor motherless girl in the Middle East who has no shoes. After a long conversation in which they discuss their dreams in life, she gives the girl her shoes and the girl promises to pray for Jordan to fulfill her dream to become a successful singer. According to Jordan the book is based on a real incident that happened when she was six, which she cites as the reason for always performing barefoot.[16] In April 2016, Jordan performed "Fly Me to the Moon" on the first season of the noncompetitive children's talent show Little Big Shots.[17] A year later she performed "What a Difference a Day Makes" on the UK version of the show. She also performed "I Put a Spell on You" on the German edition of the show. Little Big Stars, in 2017. In December 2016, she performed on Alan Walker is Heading Home, a live concert broadcast from Bergen, Norway, where she sang Walker's songs "Sing Me to Sleep" and "Faded".[18] On 15 June 2018, a full album of recordings with Staff Band of the Norwegian Armed Forces (Forsvarets stabsmusikkorps), called It's Magic, was released.[19] The next day, Jordan and the band performed the full album live in a concert attended by Norway's Prime Minister. On 27 June 2018, Jordan performed "Fly Me to the Moon" for Quincy Jones in The O2 Arena in London, as part of his 85th birthday celebration, and also joined with other singers to perform "Man in the Mirror" to close the show.[20][21] 2019–2020: America's Got Talent, "Bohemian Rhapsody", and Republic Records In 2019, Jordan performed for former president Barack Obama and other public figures at the Brilliant Minds conference in Stockholm. In October 2019, she competed in the second season of America's Got Talent: The Champions, which was aired in January and February 2020.[22] Her first appearance on the show, singing an original arrangement of Queen's "Bohemian Rhapsody", received a "golden buzzer" from judge Heidi Klum (meaning that Jordan would pass directly into the finals). As with her Norway's Got Talent audition six years earlier, a video of Jordan's performance began to go viral on YouTube, quickly reaching 10 million views.[23] The performance also garnered praise from Queen's official Twitter account.[24] Shortly afterwards, the video was taken down[23] and Jordan released a studio version of the same arrangement under her own copyright.[25] Jordan's second performance (in the finals), a similarly reworked "Goodbye Yellow Brick Road" based largely on a version by Sara Bareilles, was also well received, but she was not among the top 5 acts. In August 2020, Jordan's manager (her uncle, Michael Astar) announced that she had signed with Republic Records.[3] Her first single on the label, "Million Miles", was released on 6 November 2020, on all major digital platforms.[4] An official lyric video was posted to her official YouTube channel the same day.[26] The track was produced by the Norwegian duo Stargate, who also co-wrote the song with Jordan.[27] She has since released two additional music videos for the song: one showing her singing the song "live" in a recording studio, the other an "official music video" featuring her younger sister.[28][29] In June 2022, after a two-year hiatus brought on by the worldwide COVID-19 pandemic, Jordan resumed singing in front of live audiences with an appearance in the first episode of the final season of Allsang på Grensen.[30][31] Personal life Jordan was born in Oslo, Norway, and has lived for extended periods both there and in Los Angeles. She also lived for a time in the Middle East. She has a younger sister who has been featured in some of her music videos. Her father, Gerry Christian Slattman, is Swedish.[32] Her Norwegian mother, Sara Astar, is the daughter of Iranian artist and poet Mery Zamani and a Japanese father.[33][16] Jordan attended the Oslo Waldorf School and participated in the Oslo School of Music and Performing Arts after-school program, where she received vocal training and piano lessons. In addition to singing and playing the piano, she plays violin, guitar and flute, and also paints.[34] Since 2018, she has been living and going to school in Los Angeles.
